Training for Young People

Theatre training for children and young people is an integral part of our mission, and in our youth theatre school we practice active learning. The elementary and middle school classes introduce the students to creative dramatics and improvisation techniques.

The high school students explore character development, script analysis and scene study. At each level, students learn that good actors must work hard and commit to every challenge. That's what it takes to bring a successful play to the Sumter Little Theatre stage.

We present two plays for young audiences each season. We always give special consideration to our students before we open the auditions to the general public. Auditions are held during class. Parents will be informed of the audition dates as they are scheduled.
